Freelance Work

Erasmus Partners, London, Nov 2009 - Jun 2010

Working mostly with the Relentless Energy Drink brand I spent my time at The Erasmus Partners producing designs for a large variety of platforms ranging from identity, packaging, print and digital, to apparel and huge festival tents.

Due to the small size of the design team, my role ranged from Junior, Illustrator, Artworker and lead designer for some projects.

Working as a freelancer I have developed several identities for start-up companies across the south coast and won a photography commission from the National Geographic Adventure Channel website to produce images and a mini series from a month long trip to the Greek Islands.

Agency Experience

Landor Associates, London, Aug 2009 - Oct 2009

At Landor I had the opportunity to work on some great brands including Carlsberg and Kinder for a large multi-national. This gave me some good hands on experience early on in my career and the chance to work with some great characters.

Profero, London, Jun 2008

I went to Profero on an internship while still studying at Falmouth. It was a fantastic experience which really open my eyes to the design world and conformed my career choice.

Skills

I am very confident on the Adobe big three, Photoshop, Illustrator and InDesign.

Through my work I have had exposure to Dreamweaver, designing and creating a number of basic websites including my personal portfolio site.

I also have basic knowledge of Cinema 4D, Final Cut and Keynote.
